omewhere in the head football ach's office at William Jewell Cole is a year-old set of notes that will me in handy in the next two weeks. Those notes, some deep-seated emories and three game films, will astitute Vic Wallace's scouting rert on Northwestern College of Orge City, Iowa.

For the second straight year, Northstern will be William Jewell's oppont in the National Association of Incollegiate Athletics Division II mifinal round when the playoffs reme Dec. 3.

There are other similarities. Northstern's Red Raiders once more are sked No. 1 in NAIA Division II and ain will be the visiting team in Liby. Wallace would like a repeat of 1982 game, when Jewell scored a 10 victory over Northwestern.

We know we'll be up against a od team," Wallace said. "Northstern has a great offense. This will a challenge to our defense. I think rthwestern will learn from its misses of last year. I don't think they yed up to their potential then. Most heir people are back, including Lee Kinstry, who is one of the premier arterbacks in the nation."

Northwestern, 12-0, came from be-victory over St. Thomas of Minnesotain a rain-soaked quarterfinal game. Saturday in Orange City. William Jewell, 9-1-1, led all the way in smashing Wilmington of Ohio 51-7 in Liberty. It ranked as the Cardinals' best allround performance of the season.

"That's a good football team," Wilmington Coach Bill Ramseyer said of the Cardinals. "Scoop Gillespie and Steve Hodges are excellent backs and their quarterback (Scott Sandridge) does a good job. Their linebackers are very, very quick."

The other NAIA Division II semifinal game Dec. 3 matches Westminster (Pa.), 9-1, against Pacific Lutheran, 8-2, in Tacoma, Wash. The championship game will be played Dec. 10 at the home field of one of the finalists. That will be determined after the semifinals.

Pacific Lutheran advanced with a 35-3 romp over Baker, and Westminster advanced with a 28-0 victory over Findlay (Ohio).

The loss to Pacific Lutheran ended an otherwise brilliant season for Baker, 10-1. It also capped an agonizing week for Baker Coach Charlie Richard.

Richard entered St. Luke's Hospital for tests Monday after suffering chest pains. He was released Wednesday and accompanied the team to Tacoma. He said after the game Saturday that he would take further tests today.

Baker, which had scored six shutouts during the season and allowed only 42 points to four other opponents, was dented for five touchdowns by Pacific Lutheran.

"Our cross-blocking and double tight-end offense were the keys against a much stronger opponent," Pacific Lutheran Coach Frosty Westering said. The Lutes' playoff experience undoubtedly was a factor. Pacific Lutheran has been in the playoffs four of the last five years. This was Baker's second trip to the playoffs. The Wildcats also lost in the quarterfinals in 1980.

Kevin Alewine gained 82 yards in 15 carries for Baker, which made only 156 total yards on the rain-soaked artificial turf.

The NAIA's Division I playoff pairings were determined Sunday, but the Washburn Ichabods were excluded from the eight-team field. Washburn, which was rated ninth in the final poll, lost out on two counts.

Eastern New Mexico, rated ahead of the Ichabods, stayed in the playoff race by playing favored Central Oklahoma 28-28 on Saturday. Central Oklahoma had gone into the game as the No. 1 team in Division I.

Carson-Newman (Tenn.), rated below the Ichabods, slipped in as the highest-rated team in Area 4. Each area has to be represented by at least one team. Carson-Newman finished 12th in the final poll.

The Division I playoffs open Dec. 3 with Shepherd (W.Va.), 9-1, at Carson-Newman (Tenn.), 7-3; Saginaw Valley (Mich.), 8-2, at Central Oklahoma, 8-0-1; Northeastern Oklahoma, 8-1, at Central Arkansas, 10-0, and Eastern New Mexico, 8-1-1, at Mesa (Colo.), 9-0-1.
