

This is it for Linfield

Title game this afternoon at 12:30 in McMinnville

McMINNVILLE — Two well-balanced football teams, William Jewell of Liberty, Mo., and Linfield, clash for small college supremacy at 12:30 p.m., today at McMinnville High's Wortman Stadium.

A capacity crowd of near 5,000 is expected to watch the Missouri and Oregon schools compete for the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Division II title.

Linfield could be considered a slight favorite because of its 11-0 record, No. 2 ranking after the regular season and the home advantage.

William Jewell, 10-1, was ranked sixth in the final regular-season coaches poll.

The game site was switched from Linfield's Maxwell Field because the Wortman Stadium field is in excellent condition, compared to the mud at Maxwell.

Both teams have been impressive in the playoffs as they each seek their first national title. The Cardinals outlasted Sul Ross in Alpine, Tex., 44-43 in triple overtime, and upset top-ranked Northwestern of Iowa, 23-10.

Linfield, which has been the host team throughout the playoffs, has beaten California Lutheran 20-16 and Westminster, Pa., 37-9.

William Jewell, 21-2 in coach Vic Wallace's two years there, is making its third consecutive playoff appearance. The Cards beat PLU in the quarterfinals last year, but lost to Austin, Tex., in the semis.

Linfield is making its first finals appearance in coach Ad Rutschman's 15 years, although the school lost in the title game in 1961 and 1965.

Most teams that gain the finals show well-balanced offenses, and these clubs are no exception. They each have several good running backs, sharp leaders at quarterback and quick receivers.

William Jewell has averages of 33.6 offensively and 13.5 defensive-

WOSC wakes up, wins

Lewis Classic gets under way

The Western Oregon men's basketball team rolled into the finals of the ninth John Lewis Classic basketball tournament Friday night with an 85-52 victory over Western Baptist.

Guard Rebel Austin dished out 12 assists, one shy of a WOSC single-game record, and Lance Ball contributed 15 points to lead the unbeaten Wolves to their best offensive performance and largest victory margin this season.

Western Oregon fell behind 6-0 before WOSC coach Jim Boutin had seen enough. He called timeout and promptly gave his players an old-fashioned tongue-lashing.

That seemed to work, for the Wolves turned the deficit into a comfortable lead over the next eight minutes.

"After he called timeout, I'm sure he gave them some sort of threat," said Western Baptist coach Tim Hills. "I would have too."

After the one-minute rest, Western Baptist managed to extend its lead to 10-3 after Ball's second foul led to two free throws by Steve Masten. That foul and some ill-advised shots put Ball on the bench in favor of junior center Doug Harris.

The substitution worked. Harris figured in four straight baskets to help the Wolves score 12 unanswered points and take a 15-10 lead.

A Brian Walker rebound started the 12-point run. Harris contributed an offensive rebound that led to Bret Agost's basket, then scored on a fast break off an assist by Austin.

Harris' outlet pass after a rebound led to Austin's fast-break layup, which put WOSC ahead for the first time, 11-10. A blocked shot led to Austin's 14-footer before a Jeff Meeuwssen jumper capped the 12-point run.

"I'm just trying to come in and do as well as I can," said Harris. "We kind of tend to start nervous. After we got relaxed, we played pretty well."

Only poor shooting (38 percent) in the first half kept the Wolves from leading by 20 or more. As it was, WOSC led 40-26 by intermission, whereafter Austin and Ball took over.

BATTLING FOR THE BALL — Western Oregon's Steve Lawrence, right, battles a Western Baptist player during WOSC's 85-52 victory in the John Lewis Classic. Lawrence had 11 points.

Dave Bickham opened the second half with two long-range jumpers, cutting the Wolves' lead to 10. Austin retaliated with assists to Walker and Meeuwssen and the Wolves retained their 14-point edge until Ball went on a scoring spree.

Ball scored eight straight WOSC points, six on eight- to 10-foot jumpers, over a three-minute stretch that ended with the Wolves ahead 56-36. The Warriors, with no player taller than 6-5, simply couldn't stay with WOSC's 6-10 strongman.

Western Baptist couldn't stay with the Wolves on the boards, either, losing the rebounding battle 35-22. "We didn't pound back hard enough," said Hills. "Aggressiveness and experience usually win in those situations."

Besides Ball's 15 points, the Wolves got 12 from Agost and a career-high 11 from 6-10 soph Steve Lawrence. Austin had an off-night shooting (3 of 9), but his 12 assists and floor leadership more than offset the missed shots.

"I went up to Rebel after the game and told him, 'If there's a better player in the district, I want to see him,'" Hills said. "He's the glue in their factory."

Boutin said the win, WOSC's fifth without a loss, was another step forward. "We did a couple of things better tonight," he said. "One, we played much better team defense, and two, we opened up so much better offensively."

Seaver goes back to Mets

HONOLULU (AP) — Three-time Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver, who symbolized the young New York Mets during their glory years, was sent back to the Mets Friday by the Cincinnati Reds as baseball's winter meetings ended with a record low number of trades.

New York General Manager Frank Cashen and Reds President Dick Wagner announced the deal at baseball's winter meetings. The trade depends on a medical report and approval of a new contract by Seaver, 38, who suffered a variety of maladies last season and finished with a 5-13 record, his worst ever.

The 5 p.m. Hawaiian time deadline arrived Friday after a late flurry of does not count in that total.

Since baseball began keeping track 10 years ago, the fewest number of trades at a winter meeting was 11 involving 30 players in 1979.

In other action Friday, the Houston Astros announced the signing of free-agent centerfielder Omar Moreno, the San Francisco Giants re-signed relief ace Greg Minton and the Chicago Cubs sent right-handed pitcher Doug Bird to the Boston Red Sox for righthander Chuck Rainey.

The Mets also completed another deal, sending right handed pitcher Mike Scott to the Houston Astros for outfielder-first baseman Danny Heep.

Cashen and Wagner have been trying to complete the Seaver deal for several months, haggling back and forth over whom the Mets would surrender.

"Dick and I are in general agreement on compensation," Cashen said, but did not disclose the names of the players who would be going to the Reds if Seaver passes the Mets' physical and approves his contract. Cincinnati has been seeking one of New York's several well-regarded young pitching prospects.

Seaver won the National League Cy Young award in 1969, '73 and '75, and spent the first 10½ seasons of his major league career with the Mets. He was traded to the Reds in June of

Raiders may go back to Oakland

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — The Los Angeles Raiders are heading toward another trial and perhaps back to Oakland for the 1983 NFL season.

"I really don't know what it means," said Al Davis, the team's managing general partner, after a Monterey County Superior Court judge ruled Friday that the Raiders must move back to Oakland under a preliminary injunction which he reinstated.

"THE TRIAL decision in Los Angeles said we could move, but this injunction says we can't," said Davis, whose team has played its 1982 home games in the Los Angeles Coliseum but still uses its old Oakland practice field.

The Raiders are 4½ tied for the American Football Conference lead, and have two regular-season home games remaining.

The move back to Oakland won't have to be made until after this season, Judge Robert O'Farrell specified. He is presiding over the case in which Oakland seeks to take over the Raiders under the city's power of eminent domain.

NEXT FRIDAY, O'Farrell plans to set a trial date. If the Raiders should win the trial, of course, they would be the Los Angeles Raiders again in 1983.

The eminent-domain case, which was moved from Oakland to Monterey, was dismissed once. But appeals took it to the California Supreme Court, which ruled that the question should be decided in a trial.

Last May in a federal court trial in Los Angeles, the Raiders prevailed over the NFL in an antitrust case and were granted the right to move to Los Angeles after 22 seasons in Oakland.

"I DON'T GET emotional one way or another. This is just a normal thing with the courts. Things go back and forth. But we always seem to win the big ones," Davis said when reached by telephone at his home in Oakland.

He had just talked to Moses Lasky, the attorney representing the Raiders in the eminent domain case, and to Joseph Alioto, the chief attorney in the antitrust trial.

"Mo Lasky told me the judge just feels that until this trial is over, he should keep the injunction in place. Joe Alioto had a notion that the federal trial takes precedence over this state case," said Davis.

Next March in Los Angeles, a trial is scheduled to determine damages due the Raiders in the antitrust case with the NFL.

"We'll deal with that, then move on to the eminent domain trial," said Davis.

Dokes knocks out Weaver in first

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Michael "Dynamite" Dokes stopped Mike Weaver at 1:03 of the first round to become the World Boxing Association heavyweight champion Friday night in a stunning victory that Weaver called "a fix."

"Are you saying it was a setup?" Weaver was asked.

"Yes, I am saying that," he answered.

"Do you think (promoter) Don King was behind it?"

"Who else?" said Weaver.

DON MANUEL, Weaver's manager, said he would ask the WBA to declare the fight no contest and reschedule it in 30 days.

The fight ended in chaos, with a brawl between the fighters' entourages and security men taking place in the ring.

As Dokes walked toward Weaver's corner after his victory, someone threw a punch and the ring filled with pushing, swinging men. No one was hurt.

MANY IN THE sellout crowd of 4,500 at the Caesars Palace Sports Pavilion also shouted "fix" and shouted and booed in disapproval of the quick ending.

While the brawl in the ring was going on, one fan screamed, "Let them fight. I paid to see a fight."

The top ticket price was $50, far below the top ticket price for most heavyweight championship bouts.

When referee Joey Curtis signaled the fight was over, Dokes leaped in the air, then fell to the canvas, apparently overcome by emotion.

"I was not hurt, I was just cold," said Weaver. "I was not hurt. But I am very hurt now. There is nothing I can do about it."

"I DO FEEL THEY were against me," said the beaten champion. He did not elaborate.

LARRY BIRD
'Working man'

BOSTON — "The key to the game of basketball is coming out of the box," says Larry Bird of the Boston Celtics. "We came out strong and kept the pressure on them all the way," Bird said Friday night after scoring 24 of his game-high 33 points in a decisive first half which carried the Celtics to a 123-97 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers.

"We had that little extra step to tonight, and that makes a lot of difference," said Boston coach Bill Fitch. "Larry just turned in another of his working-man performances. He really got us off to a fast start. He's just a fabulous player."

Philadelphia's Julius Erving said, "We're gonna have to make some adjustments before we play them again. It was a case of us giving them a lot of second shots, Bird's hot hand and our turning the ball over in the lane."

The win ended Boston to average a 119-115 loss to Philadelphia in double overtime earlier this season and move into a tie with the 76ers for the Atlantic Division lead at 17-4.

Bird and a limping Robert Parish dominated both the scoring and the boards for the Celtics. Parish had 18 points while matching Bird's 14 rebounds.

With Bird scoring 14 points and Parish eight, Boston took a 30-27 lead after one period. Then the Celtics broke open the game in a 38-point second quarter, going in front 68-53 while outscoring Philly 20-12.
